

GameStop business travel notice and restrictions now in effect

All non-essential business travel should be eliminated until further notice.

- Beginning now, we are banning all business travel to China, Hong Kong, Japan, and South Korea until further notice. Any business travel to Italy must be deemed 'essential' and have EVP-level approval
- All employees who make personal travel plans to China, Hong Kong, South Korea, Italy, Japan or Iran must work from home for 14 days following your trip based on the latest news of the coronavirus occurrences.
- Note, with Spring Break vacations coming up, please pay close attention to this alert and restriction.
- This travel alert and restrictions applies to ALL GameStop associates and contractors.
- We will continue to monitor the situation closely and will update our alert and restrictions, based on CDC recommendations.
- If this travel alert applies to your potential travel plans, please contact your HR business partner and they will work with you to notify your manager and help determine next steps.